

Digestive

A remarkable discovery with acupuncture is how common it is to clear up acute or chronic digestive disorders with acupuncture alone or in conjunction with Chinese herbal Medicine. Irritable bowel, Constipation or Acid Reflux to name a few are examples of conditions which can be cleared up or lessened to a significant degree by incorporating acupuncture over a semi short period of time. A common finding in our culture and region is acid reflux, which generally has a stress component linked to it. Freeing the energy blockages from the associated Wood Meridian, has a profound effect on clearing up digestive disorders.