

Hypertension

With hypertension there is usually both a physical and psychological component which influence the blood pressure leading to hypertension. When the blood vessels become narrowed there is greater pressure within the cardiovascular system paired and with stress of any kind is a sure recipe for disaster. In my treatments I use an Herbal remedy which after just 28 days shows a significant reduction in lipid peroxides which are the culprits to the narrowing of the vessel walls, in conjunction with acupuncture which harmonizes energy flow and facilitates healing both physically and mentally. I have had numerous people either reduce their blood pressure meds and many get off drugs like Lipitor altogether.
